Make a Difference in the New Year

Willamette Valley Hospice offers Free Volunteer Training

Salem, OR & surrounding communities (December 22, 2009) - Are you looking for a way to make a difference in your community in 2010? Willamette Valley Hospice invites you to attend a free training session to explore the volunteer opportunities available with the non-profit agency.

The free, one-day training will be held at their office, 1015 3rd St. NW, Salem, on Friday, January 8th from 8:00am-5:30pm.

Theresa Whitehurst, a volunteer with Willamette Valley Hospice, says, "My husband was on hospice and it was very helpful. I've done a lot of volunteering all over, and have been volunteering at Willamette Valley Hospice for over 2 years. I like the people I work with there, and it's been very rewarding. It's convenient and flexible for me, too."

Volunteers 12 - 16 years may provide office support or assist with special events; volunteers 16 or older may help with office support or patient care which can include reading, running errands or just providing companionship. Volunteers also help promote hospice education at community activities and special events. Schedules are flexible and volunteers can serve close to their home.

Contact Brittney or Amir for more information at (503) 588.3600, brittneyb@wvh.org, amiro@wvh.org, or visit us at www.wvh.org. Willamette Valley Hospice has been dedicated to serving those in Marion and Polk counties for over 30 years. Willamette Valley Hospice offers comprehensive end-of-life care, grief services, as well as complimentary educational presentations in the community.
